

In This Issue

1. NGA GlassBuild in Las Vegas 2012
2. Float glass for electronic applications
3. Vacation in the Philippines

NGA GlassBuild in Las Vegas 2012

▲ NGA GlassBuild 2012

▲ l to r, Erik Delie, Wendy Zhong, Sean Snyder

An upbeat feeling in Las Vegas- NGA GlassBuild America 2012

On September 12-14th, Intex Glass participated for the 6th time in the NGA GlassBuild show. As usual it was a great opportunity for attendees and exhibitors not only to gather and to talk business but also to develop friendships so particular to the glass industry.

We were glad to meet with a lot of customers and to probe them for their thoughts about the present state of the industry. We definitely saw more people this year than two years ago and the general feeling was more upbeat as well.

Although the US and Europe still have not recovered could it be that we have reached the bottom or even have started to turn the corner?

Visit us at <http://www.intexglass.net>

Float glass for electronic applications

Applications: Our float glass finds its way in a variety of electronic applications such as digital copiers, scanners, screen protectors for gaming machines, monitors etc.

Thickness and Sizes: The stock sheet sizes (in mm) we are producing are as follows:

2.5 mm: 2400*1830、2100*1220

2.8 mm: 1800*1525、1740*1525、1870*1830、1900*1650、2380*1830、1830*1535、582*1525

3.0 mm: 2440*1830、2050*1830

3.2 mm: 1800*1650、1810*1650、1870*1830、1920*1650、2370*1830、2400*1780

4.0 mm: 1860*1830、1860*1525、1870*1525、1780*1525

Production cycle: 29 days

Consistent Quality: We have continuously produced high-quality electronics grade float glass for over 7 years and will continue to do so.

After-sale service: We provide customers with a complete service including providing ideas to improve their production control and to eliminate losses during production. We also give professional advice on glass storage management.

Visit us at <http://www.intexglass.net>

Vacation in the Philippines

Self-service travel in Philippine----By Sales Coordinator Rainy Li at Intex Glass

From June 19th to 25th of 2012, I had a one week holiday in Philippine. It was my first time for the self-service travel abroad. As the people there all are able to speak English, and they are nice and enthusiastic, so I enjoyed very much there. Here I take the chance to share some wonderful experiences.

Philippine is named as the country with thousands of inland. There is direct flight from our city Xiamen to the capital of Philippine Manila with 2 hours, so it is very convenience to go there. Of course, the expense is affordable, which is within our limited budget.

My first stop is to Boracay Island. It is most famous for the beautiful beach with pure and white sand, which is 5 kilometers long shown like below picture.

▲ Boracay Island

The sea water is so clean and blue, which is the most beautiful sea I have ever seen. It made you feel that it is too good to be true. We then rent a boat with a crab shape which is popular used in that area to go to Snorkeling.

▲ Snorkeling

During the snorkeling, you could see a lot of colorful tropical fish and the red coral, especially the cute fish Nemo in the movie 'Finding nemo'. They are so beautiful. I even feed these fish with some bread, and they come to bite your fingers. It was very nice. I like snorkeling so much, you could feel the sea is so quiet, mysterious and amazing. From the snorkeling area, you could see everything in the bottom of the sea, but on the right side, it is much deep, which you could only see the dark blue water. You may wonder there maybe a shark will come out suddenly and give you super surprise. When I have the time, next time, I would spend one more week to learn diving in the deep sea. It must be very interesting.

Then I went to Tagbilaran in Bohol. The most impressed sightseeing is the Chocolate Hill. There are over one thousand of small hills, they are covered in green grass which turns brown during the autumn season, like the shape and color is like the Chocolate.

▲ Rainy Li at Chocolate Hill in Bohol

I like travelling so much, as it could make your view more widen. I hope to go to one country every year. I would not spend most of the money on the expensive house; instead, I would set up a travel fund which will be a good memory in your life time. Thanks.

Visit us at <http://www.intexglass.net>